BRITISH--GERMAN AIR FORCES TRADED TERRIFYING BLOWS DURING WEEKEND

MASSED NAZI AIR RAIDERS HURTLED OVER COAST MONDAY

PLANES SWEEP ACROSS THE CHANNEL ALONG THIRTY-MILE FRONT IN NEW RAIDS

LONDON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—German warplanes failed today in an attempt again to pierce London's defenses, but massed Nazi raiders smashed at a 30-mile stretch of the south coast and showered bombs also on a wide area inland.

Two big waves of German bombers headed toward the capital were turned off by British fighters in a 10-minute battle in the clouds about 20,000 feet over the southeast coast.

Machine-gun and cannon fire of Messerschmitt fighters escorting the bombers died away as the Germans made for home without breaking through, at least three of their planes falling as the battle's toll. Fourteen German planes were reported downed previously.

Later reports said another eight planes were shot down over the southeast area in a late afternoon battle, making the day's total 25 so far.

An aid raid alarm earlier sent Londoners underground for the sixth time since Saturday, but the metropolitan area was unscatched.

An air ministry spokesman said the German air force had suffered a "very sharp reverse" in daylight raids and that increasing night attacks apparently indicated a change of tactics.

(German reports said British planes were downed in air fighting today at a rate of five to every German plane lost.)

Drop Bombs 25 Miles Inland.

An unidentified plane was reported to have dropped bombs near New Ross 25 miles inland in southern Ireland, killing four persons.

Besides Dover, the Channel "Hell's Corner," Folkestone and the South Foreland apparently bore the brunt of the Luftwaffe's reply to Britain's first big air attack on Berlin.

London's millions sent scurrying to shelter at 3:26 p. m. (8:26 a. m. CST.) when alarm sirens screamed, but they emerged again when the all-clear signal was given 37 minutes later without any sign of the raiders or any activity by the city's anti-aircraft guns.

Crossing the southeast coast in swarms, the Germans attempted to reach London after day-long attacks on Dover and Folkestone.

Day's Biggest Battle.

The day's biggest battle raged over Dover, the English channel port only 22 miles from the French coast. Four of the attackers were downed here.

Folkestone, a town of 35,000 population, bore the brunt of a heavy attack in which two of the German craft were shot down after creating scenes of horror among the population. Folkestone is southwest of Dover and 26 miles from Moulogne, France.

South Foreland, sparesely settled sandy waste northeast of Dover, near the Royal Military School, was the scene of the day's third major attack.

The dull roar of bombs was heard throughout the raging battle all along the coast east of Dover to Folkestone.

The German attackers and British challengers battled desperately almost two hours, the planes plunging so low over Folkestone that RAF men guarding barrage balloons opened fire on the raiding craft with rifles.

CONTRACTS DECLARED BE OUTSTANDING FOR THOUSANDS PLANES

ALMOST 4,000 FOR ARMY AND NEAR 3,000 FOR NAVY CLAIMED IN PLANTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The defense commission reported to President Roosevelt today that contracts for 6.747 army and navy planes were outstanding as of August 17, although funds for much of the aircraft procurement program were still tied up in the $5,008,000,000 defense bill.

The figures were contained in a report based on treasury deparement figures brought to the White House by Robert Horton, publicity director of the commission.

The report said that, as of August 17, contracts were "in the works" for 3,916 army planes, including 2,029 combat and observation planes and 1,887 other types, primarily training.

For the navy on that late, Horton said, contracts had been let for 2,831, including 1,221 combat and observation, and 1,610 other types mostly training.

Horton explained these figures covered contracts outstanding for planes yet to be delivered. Dates of delivery for the planes were not disclosd.

He said it was impossible to contract for planes to fill out the present program until congress passed the $5,008,000,000 measure.

The repart was made public at a time when congressional critics contended the defense program was bogging down. Senator Vandnbrg (R-Mich) made such a statement last night and asked for an investigation. Senator Byrd (D-Va) said only 343 combat planes had been ordered in the last 100 days.

Horton said the army and navy anticipated delivery of about 2,200 planes in the latter half of

AXIS POWERS NOT PLEASED AT UNITED STATES DISCUSSIONS IN REFERENCE HEMISPHERE DEFENSE

By DeWITT MACKENZIE

The Berlin-Rome brotherhood is taking a sour and uncomplimentary view of Uncle Sam's discussion with Canada regarding defense matters of mutual interest, and his conversations with England concerning the leasing of naval bases in the western hemisphere.

It would seem from the fascist and nazi press (which, as you know, is government controlled) that Sam hopes to gain at the expense of his friends and neighbors. He has, they say, imperialistic ambitions.

The intimation is that Uncle Sam is preparing to take advantage of John Bull's tough position and appropriate British territory.

This includes control of Canada, and Das Schwarze, organ of Hitler's black-shirted Elite guard, suggests defeat of Britain might raise the question of American incorporation of the dominion.

Anything having less basis of possibility than our annexation of Canada is hard to imagine. Still, in view of defense discussions, there is special interest in American-Canadian relations as they have to do with the crisis arising from the European war.

We don't need to waste much time on the annexation fantasy.

There is no doubt in my mind that Canadians would fight with every available weapon to prevent annexation. However, they have no fear of any effort on our part to take them over. I never have heard any responsible American suggest such a thing.

It is true that Canadians are on the whole more like Americans than English. It is also true that the average Canadian expects to join hands with his American neighbors in case of attack.

However, the Canadians are a proud and independent people who refuse to let even Mother England dictate to them. The bond which holds them within the British commonwealth is more of sentiment than reality, and they will maintain their sovereignty.

I have heard the questions raised of whether any pact we made with Canada would ipso facto be a pact with England as well. The answer in my view is that England would have nothing to do with an American-Canadian agreement, unless that agreement specifically made Britain a party to it.

Canada is a sovereign state and is wholly free to make any agreement she wants with the United States.

BERLIN GETS FIRST TASTE OF WARPLANES ATTACK BY BRITISH

CLAIMED THAT ONLY SLIGHT DAMAGE AND NO CASUALTIES RESULTED

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The "preliminaries" of the Battle of Britain are over, the semi-official Dienst Aus Deutschland said tonight, and now begins the detailed destruction of Britain's war industries.

Its statement came on the heels of the heaviest air attack Berlin has suffered since the war began.

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Berlin got its first taste of an air raid today when four waves of British bombers, swooping above a protective ceiling of clouds, skirted spectacular German anti-aircraft fire and dropped incendiary bombs on the fringe of the city.

Berlin's 4,000,000 population huddled in cellars and shelters for three hours and four minutes during the early morning, but informed sources said only one three-room garden cottage in the northern suburb of Rosenthal was damaged by fire, and that there were no casualties.

The high command said it was the first time British planes have flown over the German capital, but it was Berlin's fifth air raid alarm.

Germans said one of the raiders was shot down. The high command said the "aimless" bombing hit only non-military objects."

The daily communique declared numerous bombings were carried out last night against the British airplane and armament industry, particularly at Birmingham, Kingstown and Coventry, where large fires and explosions were observed, and the airport at Warmwell, northwest of Portland, where "fierce airfights" developed.

The German radio said 1,500 bombs were dropped on 38 objectives in these sweeping raids.

Many Planes Claimed Downed.

Seventy-two British planes were shot down yesterday, the high command said, with 14 German planes missing, raising Saturday and Sunday totals to 136 and 34.

Mines are still being laid in British ports, the communique said, and one German plane ventured 225 miles west of Landsend, into the Atlantic, to sink a 4,000-ton merchantship.

Two U-boats reported the sinking of 76,170 tons of shipping, including four ships shot out of a convoy.

Meanwhile, Germany dispatched a note to Britain, by way of Swiss diplomatic channels, warning that reprisals will be taken unless British aircraft stop firing upon first aid planes sent to rescue airmen shot down in the sea. Just before dispatch of the note was announced, officials said the crews of two British bombers

LARGE VOTE POLLED IN RUN-OFF PRIMARY ELECTION SATURDAY

COMM. CHAS. SLAUGHTER WAS ONLY THIRD-TERMER NOMINATED

Complete unofficial returns for the Democratic primary run-off election held Saturday saw Navarro county voters turn thumbs down on officers seeking third terms with one lone exception, C. O. (Chas.) Slaughter of Currie, county commissioner.

Despite the absence of a gubernatorial contest and local races that ordinarily generate considerable interest and feeling, Navarro countians turned out in large numbers for the balloting. Hundreds attended the Sun-Light Publishing Company election party to receive precinct, county, and state returns. The high number of votes was in the county judges' race where 8663 were reported, as compared with 9473 for Cap Curington, sheriff, unopposed, in the first primary election. The decrease in the runoff was 810 as compared with the former election.

Purdon Reported First

Purdon was the first box reported and during the first 20 minutes after the polls closed, 20 boxes had been received. Thirty-six of the 48 precincts had reported in the first 40 minutes while 41 had been heard from at 8 p. m. Birdston, the last to be reported, was received at 9:05 p. m. and the complete totals were announced over the loudspeaker, posted on the door and broadcast over Station KAND a few minutes later.

The large crowd was orderly and frequently cheered when welcome news was heard.

W. A. McCants, presiding judge at Zion's Rest, reported the same number of votes were cast at the second as at the first election, 352.

Pierce Brooks of Dallas county received 4508 to 4085 for Olin Culberson in their railroad commis-

P. E. Parker, aged 50 years, Muskogee, Oklahoma, resident, died in the P. and S. Hospital Saturday night from injuries sustained in an automobile collision on Highway 75 Friday night. His death is the second auto crash fatality in Navarro county during 1940.

Parker, engaged in the cleaning and pressing business, was en route to Corpus Christi to visit a sister at the time of the collision, it was reported.

The body was forwarded Sunday afternoon to Muskogee by the Corley Funeral Home where funeral rites will be held. Time of the rites were not known here.

Surviving are his wife of Muskogee, and three sisters, Mrs. V. F. Self, Harrison, N. Y.; Mrs. L. H. D. Cools, Corpus Christi, and Mrs. Breland Adams, Muskogee.

Parker suffered a fractured left leg and head and body injuries. He was alone in his car.

The other automobile figuring in the accident was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hegwood, J. R. Hegwood and wife, Gladys Hegwood and an infant son of J. R. Hegwood, Jimmy Hegwood, all of Monroe, La. The Hegwood family was en route to Borger to visit relatives. Mrs. R. W. Hegwood received severe shock and lacerations about the head, while others escaped with minor injuries.

Both automobiles were demolished.

SENATE VOTES LIMIT NUMBER CONSCRIPTS 900,000 ONE TIME

SEN. SHEPPARD HAD STATED IT WAS GOAL OR ARMY FOR 4,000,000 MEN IN 1945

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The senate rejected 60 to 19 today a proposal by Senator Lodge (R-Mass) to limit compulsory military service to men from 21 to 24 years old under terms or the Burke-Wadsworth consription bill. As now written, the measure would make all men from 21 through 30 liable to such training.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The senate acted today to limit to 900,000 men the number of conscripts who might be in active training at any time during peace under the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military service bill

The limitation was agreed to on a voice vote as a compromise between a proposal offered by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) for a limitation of 1,000,000 men and an amendment by Senator Lodge (R-Mass) for a limitation of 800,000.

Previously the bill had carried no limitation and Senator Sheppard (D-Tex) told his colleagues it was the war department's plan to train 3,400,000 conscripts in the next five years.

Sheppard said the "possible army of 4,000,000 men would include 3,400,000 conscript trainees. Upon enactment of the draft bill, he continued, the war department planned to call up these men beginning October 15, this year, with a contingent of 75,000. By early January, he said, there would be 400,000 draftees under training.

Another 400,000 Sheppard continued, would be called up April 1, 1941, with 600,000 the following October 1. After that the men would be inducted in groups of 400,000 each April 1 and October 1 through April 1, 1944. That would bring in the final group to give a total of 3,400,000 conscripts. All of these, he said, by expiration of the conscription bill in April 1945 would have received a year of training.

Sheppard's outline of the war department's program brought a protest from Senator Taft (R-Ohio) that no such ambitious plan had been given by the Texas senator when he explained the Burke-Wadsworth bill at the beginning of debate. Sheppard then had said, Taft contended, that the number of men to be called after the first 800,000 were summoned, would depend largely on the need for them.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) observed that "week by week" the war department seemed to be increasing its requests to congress for men and equipment. Sheppard retorted that Wheeler was "absolutely mistaken," that no increase had been made in requests.

"I'm not going to make any speech because everything has been said" Senator Sheppard declared. "Additional speeches would only delay a final vote that everybody should want by now."

Opposition leaders conceded that final test was near.

TEXAS' FAMED '56' FARED RATHER BADLY IN STATE PRIMARIES

AUSTIN, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The "56" fared much worse than the "94," results from both democratic primary elections showed today.

The former were members of the last House of Representatives who defeated famous "S.J.R.12," sales-natural resource tax constitutional amendment advocated by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel. The latter were proponents of the measure.

Of the "56" who sought reelection, 61 per cent were defeated while of the "94" who ran again 31 per cent failed to "come back."

Thirty-four of the "56" sought re-election, but only 13 were successful. Twenty-one were defeated.

Sixty-seven of the "94" offered again, and 45 won. Twenty-two lost.

The picture seemed to be somewhat the reverse in the senate, however. Three of SJR-12 proponents who ran, four weer re-elected and six were defeated.

Of SJR-12 opponents who asked re-election two were re-elected and one defeated.

Governor O'Daniel, while avowedly endorsing no individuals had urged voters to investigate records of candiates for the legislature.

Only One of Many Mactors.

It was well known that SJR-12 did not figure in some legislative races, and was only one of many factors in others.

A feature of the election was the huge overturn of members of both houses, to an extent possibly without precedent.

Reports indicated the new house would have at least 89 new members and 58 re-elected. The outcome of three races was not known definitely. There are 150 members.

There will be 10 new faces in

OLIN CULBERSON, J. P. ALEXANDER PRIMARY WINNERS

UNUSUALLY LARGE NUMBER STATE LEGISLATORS TURN-OUT OF OFFICE

DALLAS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Texans chose Olin E. Culberson of Edna as a member of the railroad commission and James P. Alexander of Waco as chief justice of the supreme court in Saturday's democratic run-off. In addition they finished turning out of office an unusually large percentage of their state legislators.

The final tabulation by the Texas Election Bureau gave Culberson, former gas utilities supervisor for the commission, 458,061 votes to 410,656 for Pierce Brooks of Dallas, second high man in the July primary.

Alexander had 438,893 votes against 399,050 for Hal S. Lattimore of Fort Worth.

The election bureau said it would make no additional compilations. It estimated less than 20,000 votes were missing.

It was Brooks' third defeat in as many tries for state office. Once he was defeated for governor and once for lieutenant givernor. He told newspapermen he did not intend to seek office again. In a telegram to Culberson, he promised his "full co-operation as a citizen."

DIES DECLARES AXIS POWERS PROPAGANDA MACHINE VERY BUSY

CLAIMS GERMAN-AMERICANS BEING FORCED AID THE NAZIS THROUGH FEAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Representative Martin Dies, declaring that many German-Americans were being compelled to help disseminate Nazi propaganda in this country through fear for their relatives abroad, announced today he would seek enactment of a law forbidding the operation of any foreign-controlled organization in the United States.

Dies, chairman of a house committee investigating subversive activities, said he and his associates had obtained "definite evidence" the country was being flooded with Nazi propaganda sent free through the United States mails.

(Under the inernational postal agreement, postage fees on mail from foreign countries are collected by those countries. Similarly, fees on mail from the United States to foreign nations are collected by this nation.)

"The evidence shows," he said, "that there is a definite program in this country; first, to prevent any adequate national defense; second, to prevent this country from assisting England, and third, the presence of foreign agents in key industries in America places them in a strategic position for espionage and sabotage."

Dies, who begins a series of private hearings in New York this afternoon, said he was convinced the axis powers had set up a central agency in Europe for distribution of propaganda in this country.

"Under existing postal regulations," he said, "the dissemination of this propaganda does not cost Germany anything."

The United States has been divided into sections, he said, and literature is being mailed to persons on a master mailing list.

Not all of the recipients are sympathetic toward the Nazi-Fascist cause, he said, but their names have been obtained from relatives in Europe, sometimes forcibly, and they fear for the safety of these relatives if they do not cooperate.

"I think these people are entitled to have the American government make a protest to Italy and Germany against this form of blackmail," Dies said.

Before introducing a bill to outlaw foreign-controlled organizations, he said he would write "an important letter" to President Roosevelt setting forth specific facts and asking his support of the measure. He also will seek support of both major parties.

During the committee's recent hearings on the Pacific coast, Dies said, it was ascertained "16 per cent of the Italian population of San Francisco were openly Fascistic."

"It was a significant thing," he added, "that of the 10 per cent the majority were employed in key industries."

Dies said he was subpoenaing the records of Hans Ackerman, whom he identified as the editor of a German-language paper at Taylor, Texas. He already had obtained from Ackerman, he said, a "very large and confidential file containing signatures and letters

Ireland Bombed And Government Makes Protest

DUBLIN, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Irish government announced a German plane dropped bombs which killed three girls in southeastern Ireland today. An immediate protest was made to Berlin.

"A bomber aircraft of German nationality flew over the area of Campile, Ballymippy, Bannon and Duncormick, County Wexford beween 2 and 3 o'clock this afternoon," said a statement by the government information bureau.

"Bombs were dropped at each of these points. The Co-Operative Creamery at Campile was wrecked, three girls were killed and one injured by falling masonary.

BRITISH RAF PLANES DROVE TWO WAVES OF NAZIS FROM LONDON

GERMANY SAYS THAT FIRST PHASE BATTLE OVER; START DETAILED DESTRUCTION

By the Associated Press

British RAF pursuit planes drove off two waves of German bombers headed for London late today in a violent battle fought at a height of 20,000 feet.

London reported 25 German raiders were shot down in the day's fiercely intensified attacks.

Coincidentaly, the semi-official Nazi news service Dienst Aus Deutschland declared the "preliminaries" of the battle of Britain are now over—and that Germany's luftwaffe has begun the detailed destruction of Britain's war industries.

In Dublin, the government said the Irish charge d'affaires in Berlin has been instructed to make a protest to the German government "and to demand full reparations" for a German bombing attack on four towns in county Wexford.

Striking on a 30-mile front, Hitler's bombers smashed at the "Hell's Corner" channel port of Dover—the ancient town where Julius Caesar landed to invade England 1,995 years ago—and sought to penetrate London's defenses for the sixth time in 48 hours.

At least 10 of the Nazi raiders were reported shot down.

More than 50 Britons were killed in the hail of German bombs which fell inland as far as the midlands, the heart of Britain's industrial region.

Four persons were killed by bombs near New Ross, county Wexford, Southeastern Ireland. There was no indication of the identity of the plane.

London's densely-packed millions huddled in underground shelters while alarm signals shrieked for 37 minutes, but no German planes were sighted above the city.

The raiders, streaking over the southeast coast from bases on the German-held French coast only 22 miles away, set great fires at Folkestone and bombed crowded streets, inflicting many casualties.

Might Be Safeway

All of the towns attacked—including Folkestone, Deal, and the cathedral city of Canterbury—and the south foreland region, also under fire, lie in the Dover area which might be used as the gateway for a Nazi land invasion.

Waves of British RAF bombing planes, in a display of rising aerial might, thundered over Berlin in a 3-hour raid before dawn today, while Nazi warplanes dumped high explosive, incendiary and "shriek" bombs on the London area for the fifth time in 48 hours.

Berlin reported 1,500 bombs totalling 300,000 pounds were dropped on 38 objectives in the British Isles during the night. "Small fires and property damage" resulted in the London raid, the British said.

Despite a growing clamor by Britons for retaliatory raids on Berlin, an RAF spokesman declared that today's attack on the German capital by no means signalled the start of "terror" assaults on German civilians.

Scenes of horror were reported in a southeast coast town in England this morning as Nazi warplanes spread death and destruction in a 20-minute raid during the shopping rush hour, spewing bombs into crowded streets.

A laundry filled with working girls suffered a direct hit, and at least one woman was killed.

RAF fighter planes reportedly shot down at least two of the raiders. Four others were shot down attempting to cross the

MASSACHUSETTS TOWN TAKING ACTIVE STEPS TO RELIEVE ANY FOOD SHORTAGE BY ITS GARDENS

By GLADWIN HILL.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., Aug. 26.—(AP)—This typical New England town, stirred by reports of food shortages abroad, has pitched in to help—not with money or with promises, but with food from its own soil.

A sign on the main highway by a one-acre field under cultivation proclaims:

"Great Barrington division—Berkshire Famine Relief Field No. 2."

And around the town are other fields, all planted to carrots, beets and beans for hungry mouths of Europe.

It all started less than four weeks ago.

To the town hall came 40 or 50 people for an extemporaneous meeting on the European relief question.

These was desultory talk of fund-raising. Then Delacey Burke, retired New York merchandising counsel who was acting as chairman, said:

"Let's forget about money. Let's do this in the New England way, like the minute men did. Food is needed—why not give food? Why not raise it ourselves?"

M. Curtin Whalen, a local auto and tractor distributor, jumped up and yelled:

"I'll plow up Main street if you want!"

A woman called out, "I'll contribute an acre of land!"

"That's the land I'm going to plow," Whalen called back. "And not by tomorrow night—I'll have it done by noon!"

Someone else yelled, "I'll have an acre plowed and planted in 24 hours—all the town will have to do is pick the stuff!"

A woman called out she'd contribute canning equipment, and somebody else offered the space for it.

"How many people can I count on to help with the planting?" Burke demanded.

The entire audience jumped up. "Canning?" The same response again.

And the next day dowagers, debutantes and townspeople pitched in.

The first produce is already up. Other produce was contributed from private gardens.

The sponsors plan to give the food to the Red Cross for shipment abroad.

ACTION

One of the most challenging statements appearing in these troubled days, regarding America's vast, confused problem of preparedness for war, is that of Admiral Standley, former chief of naval operations.

"Let us openly and courageously declare," he says, "that a state of national emergency exists, and give the President full powers to take all necessary measures for the defense of America, including that of mobilization of our entire national strength and whatever disposition may be required of our land, naval and air forces. Let us have total defense and have it now."

Most Amricans probably read this bold declaration with sympathy. Most of us are clearly eager to put the country on an adequate defense basis as quickly as possible. Yet some of our people hesitate to take such drastic action now.

There is a strong desire among the people to help Britain in such obvious ways as speeding up delivery of war orders, and by selling her immediately those old naval destroyers about which there has been so much palaver, with any other equipment we can spare. For if Britain is defeated, it will be the hardest blow for America in 150 years.

CONGRESSIONAL IMMUNITY.

In recent days the press of the nation has carried numerous sharp attacks from members of Congress on individuals, both in the various departments of the national government and in the diplomatic service. Most of them have come from the opposition party.

Just as a matter of record, we should all recall that members of the house of represetatives and the senate of the United States enjoy privileges which are not extended to the rank and file of the population —that of speaking their minds and with no possible recourse, and at the same time drawing salaries of $10,000 per year, plus secretarial and traveling expenses and other allowances.

To a person of intelligence this should explain why most members of congress reply to opponents within the walls of their buildings and have their remarks printed in the Congressional Record. They are perfectly safe. They may say anything they choose, no matter how strong, and yet they are exempt from the risks that the average citizen runs when he assumes the same privilege.

It is not for us to judge, but it seems only fair that members of congress should have to abide by the same rules and regulations, and be answerable to the same laws as a private citizen. In other words, if they infringe on the laws they should be answerable; if their speeches in Congress are libelous, they should be subject to suit the same as an individual in private life. But the constitution gives them immunity and most of them make the best of it.

If you are not convinced read Sen. Clark's attack on Ambassador William C. Bullit, and Senator Bridges' attack on Secretary Harold L. Ickes. Remembering at the same time that the speeches of Ambassador Bullitt and Secretary Ickes were not "privileged," while the remarks of Senators Clark and Bridges were fully protected by the rules governing all remarks made within the walls of Congress.

DESTINY.

We face again the testing days
  Against all tyrant minds we stand
And all the terrifying ways
  Of force by sea and air and land.
Ours are the dreams—God help us still—
That tyrants always seek to kill.

Ours are the hopes of richer things.
  Ours is the higher, nobler plan!
Even despite our blunderings
  We serve the best ideals of man
Against the hordes of brutal might
We hold the faith in what is right.

We are the friends of church and school,
  The right to work; the right to play;
Of freedom from a tyrant's rule,
  And all that means the better day;
The dream which tyrants all employ
Force and its horrors to destroy.

THIS MECHANIZED WARFARE

You can't make soldiers in 90 days any longer," observes a newspaper man who fought in the last war. It will take a good year's training to get them ready to face what a soldier has to face today.

"To stand against modern weapons," explains an officer who is training a corps of business and professional men, "will take discipline beyond anything we have ever imagined, and to get this kind of discipline will require time.

"What would you do," he asks, "if you saw a steam roller coming at you? What would you do if you saw 40 of them coming at you? Wouldn't you run? You would if you lacked the highest discipline. Indeed, one good way to wake up the American people to the danger which exists would be to have them move out into a field and let the tanks come at them. Unless a man is highly disciplined, he will become a rabbit in the face of a mechanized enemy."

It's drill, drill, drill, he says, till sodiers' actions become automatic, and no matter how much they're scared, they face it and take it.

ALIENS SIGNED UP.

Letter carriers all over the country are delivering to aliens the registration blanks which they must fill out and return, in person, to postoffices where they will also have their fingerprints recorded. The blanks are less complicated than income tax forms, but it will take the exercise of plenty of thought and carefulness to fill them correctly.

Item 4 will be a heartbreaking one for many. It reads, "I am a citizen or subject of.... ." What will the Czechs, the Poles, the Austrians, the Albanians, the Finns from the ceded section of Finland, emigrants from the vanished Baltic states, and others write on that line? They must use one of three names, Germany, or Italy, or Russia.

Farther down the page they may identify themselves more closely. Item 5 C reads, "My race is: White...., Negro...., Japanese ....., Chinese ..... Other..... A lot of people will write something in that last place.

The Department of Justice warns all aliens to beware of anyone who asks large fees to "help you register." Unscrupulous persons are already taking advantage of the ignorance or fear of aliens. Some racketeers offer to get "certificates of arrival" for aliens who entered the country illegally. This sort of help is entirely out of order. Postal workers will give, free, all the help aliens need. Any illegally here will do better to make a clean breast of it themselves than to get involved in shady deals to falsify the facts.

As for Americans, patience and good-natured help on our part would do us credit.

OBJECTIVES OF FIFTH COLUMN ACTIVITIES ARE OUTLINED BY NAVY SECRETARY FRANK KNOX

By FRANK KNOX,
Secretary of the Navy

The articles by Colonel William J. Donovan and Mr. Edgar Mowrer which have appeared in the press of America have served, in my judgment, a highly useful purpose. Their frank purpose was in fore-warning and thus fore-arming the American people against a subtle form of attack successfully used elsewhere by the totalitarian powers. Unpreparedness, surprise, then delay and finally panic are the essential features of this new form of attack. Summarizing, the purposes of such propaganda are to accomplish the following objectives:

First, to create confusion of thought, suspicion and dissension among the masses in order to weaken their morale and lower the stamina of the people.

Secondly, to incite jealousy and antagonism between different classes of society, as well as between various political, racial, and religious groups. This is an effective means of weakening a country, by disrupting its unity of purpose and action.

To Retard Defense Plans

Third, to retard any effective preparation for defense. In all the conquered countries of Europe, the pacifists were stimulated to the utmost activity. Prominent officials and politicians, who were conscientious pacifists, were induced to use their influence against large scale armament. Church dignitaries were covertly worked upon on similar grounds to express publicly their disapproval. The radical labor element was secretly urged to oppose the plans of the government for enlisting them in any war. In France, labor's sabotage of the armament program was a factor in that country's lack of essential equipment. Such activities were carried on at the very time when the Nazis were driving the working people of Germany to the limit of their strength to create those implements of war with which she conquered France. Now those same French workmen who listened to fifth column agitation against their former government, have been ordered to work 56 hours a week with no extra pay for overtime, and this is just the beginning of Nazi rule in France.

Fourth, the fear of radicalism so prevalent among the rich and the ruling classes in England and in France was used as a potent argument for a more friendly, tolerant feeling toward the Nazi regime, and as a point of leverage for a policy of appeasement. Subtle persuasion, secret pressure, and in all probability, open bribery were all used to break down the loyalty and to secure the cooperation of a few key men in official positions and in the armies. When the final crisis came, these traitors contributed dramatically to the collapse of allied resistance in Norway, Holland, Belgium, and probably in France.

Assured of Immunity

Fifth, before the outbreak of war and throughout its earlier stages, the smaller countries were constantly urged to maintain their neutrality and were warned to avoid any collaboration with other nations for their common defense. Government officials and the public, by means of propaganda, were constantly assured of safety and immunity from war, if only they practiced the strictest neutrality and abstained from military cooperation with their neighbors. The little democracies were so impressed with this myth of neutrality and the security it would give them, that the Nazis were successful in their strategy of overrunning one nation at a time and thus avoided any united opposition. Fifth column propaganda played an important part in keeping public attention focussed on the necessity for a neutrality which, in the end, proved to be pure fiction and which made effective defense impossible.

Those personal privileges which in our democracy we value so highly—freedom of speech and of the press—make us particularly vulnerable to this new form of warfare. It represents a new and a grave danger for a self-governing country which springs from many nationalities.

Fortunately, there is an effective primary means of defense against the underhand activities of fifth column agents. It lies in tearing down the veil of secrecy and subterfuge under which they operate, to inform our citizens in detail as to means they employ and their purposes.

A secondary means of defense lies in the timely discernment of fifth column methods, with prompt counteraction wherever possible. This is a duty which requires intelligent and organized co-ordination. We should be ready to back this program with all the energy and resources at our command. It is a problem which requires thought and organization. It is more immediate even than the military problem. The latter, if we cannot solve the former, may well be incapable of solution.

ARMY HAS AMPLE SUPPLY OF WEAPONS FOR 3,000,000 MEN

ADMITTED, HOWEVER, THAT WEAPONS FOR NEW BLITZKRIEG WAR LACKING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(AP)—An official inventory showed today, officers said, that the army has an ample supply, not only of rifles, but of all basic weapons for a force of 3,000,000 men—more than twice the number that would be under arms in the first year of a compulsory training program.

Replying to critics who have said the war department could not equip an conscript army, General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, declared flatly yesterday: "We have plenty of material to train all these men."

Although he derided fears the United States would have a "wooden gun" or "broomstick" army, General Marshall acknowledged that adequate supplies of newer, lightning-war weapons were lacking. He referred especially to anti-tank guns, 60-millimeter mortars and 90-millimeter anti-aircraft guns.

Taking issue with the argument that conscripts should not be drafted until modern weapons were available, he declared that a soldiers basic training could be given with existing equipment.

"We have enough 30-calibre rifles for 3,000,000 men right now," General Marshall said. "It makes little difference in the training of a soldier whether he has a Garand (semi-automatic) rifle or 30-calibre rifle."

Backing up General Marshall's statement with its latest count of basic weapons, the war department said it owned 3,000 75-millimeter guns and 75,000 machine guns (exclusive of aircraft guns), which also were sufficient for 3,000,000 men.

Its June 37 inventory of other weapons showed:

Three-inch anti-aircraft guns—448 on hand, 52 additional on order.

90-Millimeter anti-aircraft guns (a new design) funds provided for 203, with 1409 more to be bought.

50-Caliber anti-aircraft machine guns—1,014 on hand, 1,362 more to be ordered.

(Total of all mobile anti-aircraft guns, to be acquired within 18 months—4,616.)

Plenty of Rifles.

Garand semi-automatic rifles—42,000 in the hands of troops, 128,000 more being made at 400 a day, 70,000 additional to be bought (ultimate total, 240,559).

Reserve of Springfield and Enfield rifles (to which Marshall referred)—2,000,000.

Tanks and combat cars—464 on hand, concentrated mainly in the new armored corps, 1,000 more to be bought.

Scout cars—485 on hand, 861 more soon to be ordered.

75-Millimeter guns—3,000 on hand, with 141 completely modernized, 459 more in process of modernization and perhaps 833 additional to be modernized (ultimate total, 1,439 modern guns).

75-Millimeter Howitzers—60 on hand, 120 more in production.

105-Millimeter Howitzers—120 in production or soon to be ordered.

155-Millimeter guns—96 in production or to be ordered.

8-inch Howitzers—48 in production or to be ordered.

Gas masks — 407,696 on hand, 116,065 in production, 345,956 to be ordered (ultimate total, 869,717).

INTERNATIONAL

channel coast on a 30-mile stretch, flying in mass formation.

Aviation experts in London estimated that 3,000 German planes—about one-sixth of Hitler's total operating strength in the air—have been thrown into the 9-week-old assault on the Island Kingdom.

Heavy explosions reverberated in downtown Berlin as at least four waves of RAF bombers streaked over the cloud-blanketed German capital—Berlin's fifth air-raid alarm since the start of the war—and hundreds of anti-aircraft guns set up a terrific din. The roar of airplane motors was audible in the heart of the city, but Nazis asserted there were no casualties and that no bombs fell in the capital itself.

The Germans acknowledged that at least one incendiary bomb landed in a village near the Berlin industrial suburb of Spandau, 20 miles from the capital, while others fell in the north Berlin suburb of Rosenthal, setting fire to a three-room garden hut.

Attackers Shot Down.

"One of the planes which crossed Berlin was shot down by anti-aircraft guns on its return flight," said DNB, the official German news agency.

Other RAF raiders appeared over extensive areas of Prussia and Saxony, stirring alarms in many cities, including ancient Leipzig, where thousands of visitors to the Leipzig fair underwent a 25-minute alarm.

The Leipzig raid carried out a "foreign feature" for the fair promised in leaflets dropped by British planes several days ago, warning that the city would be raided.

In the raid on Berlin—which the Nazi high command asserted was the first time in the war that British planes had flown over the German capital the RAF squadrons made a round-trip of about 1,200 miles from England, compared with the 200-mile round trip required of German bombers attacking London from Nazi-held bases on the French coast.

Swastika-marked raiders struck back with inceasing ferocity this morning, bombing a wide area in Wales and roaring over southeast England.

Bombed Shoppers.

Two Nazi warplanes bombed a southeast coast town for 20 minutes at the peak of morning shopping, killing several persons and damaging buildings

Mindful of their own fate if conquered by Germany, Britons read with interest a Berlin dispatch quoting Arthur Greiser, Danzig Nazi leader, as declaring in a nation-wide broadcast that Poles should be considered as servant people.

"The Pole is the servant of the German and will remain so forever," Greiser said.

The British admitted "some casualties, a few fatal," in a German air raid on a Midlands town last night, and the British censor tardily disclosed that the historic old St. Giles church in "The City." London's Wall Street district, was hit Saturday night by Nazi bombs, along with the statue of Milton outside the church which is known to thousands of American tourists.

Hitler's high command reported that Birmingham, teeming industrial center in the English Midlands, was bombed again during the night by Nazi planes making "concentric attacks" — apparently slicing in from all directions.

Midlands Raid.

Commenting on the Midlands raid, the British ministry of Home Security declared:

"Municipal, industrial and residential property damage was caused. All the fires were either extinguished or under control by the morning, and good work was done by the ARP and AFS services (Air Raid Precaution and Auxiliary Fire-Fighting Services.)"

The British air ministry said the RAF raids over Germany struck at armament factories in the Berlin area and other targets in northwest Germany and the Ruhr.

Claims on the toll inflicted on enemy fleets during the week end conflicted.

Britain said losses on Saturday were 50 German planes and 19 British while on Sunday the figures were 55 German and 13 British.

Germany said losses on Saturday were 64 British planes and 20 German and on Sunday 72 British and 14 German.

The British press counseled against a public clamor for reprisal raids on Berlin.

The way to win the war, the papers insisted, is to keep pounding solely at enemy military objectives no matter how strong the desire to "get even" for the increasing list of British civilian casualties.

Rested Briefly.

After Saturday night's and Sunday morning's blows at London, in which great fires were set, the Germans rested briefly during the day, then resumed their assaults Sunday evening.

In the Saturday night raid, one big bomb burst within 300 yards of U. S. Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy's residence on the city's outskirts and incendiary bombs showered all around, but the Ambassador reported there were no casualties.

The German command reported widespread damage to Britain's Rolls-Royce engine factory, to at least three airplane factories and to troop concentrations at Dover in Saturday night raids.

The British, in turn, said they scored heavily on German territory with Saturday night raids on factories in Stuttgart, Ludwigshaven and elsewhere and on airdromes in France, Belgium and Holland.

The German command listed a British destroyer and a 7,000-ton merchant ship as sunk by a submarine.

While the western war of words and bombs raged, the Balkans continued troubled. Hungary called up more troops, even though a resumption of her conference with Rumania over Transylvania was considered possible.

Greece, alarmed at Italy's angry words, was reported fuletly calling up reserves to man the borders.

In the western hemisphere, the joint board of defense for Canada and the United States arranged to hold its first meeting this afternoon in Ottawa.

were rescued last night by these first aid planes.

(The British have charged some of these planes with doing reconnaissance work.)

Raids Were Extensive.

Hundreds of anti-aircraft guns went into action against the British squadrons which thundered over Berlin.

The air raid alarm, this city's fifth since the start of the war, coincided with the appearance of British planes over extensive areas of Prussia and Saxony, causing warnings in many cities.

German authorities said first reports indicated no bombs had been dropped.

Appearance of the British raiders over Berlin was regarded here as a possible attempt at retaliation for intensification of German raids yesterday on England.

(Reports from Switzerland said the Germans had re-opened the Basel railway, frontier gateway between Germany and Switzerland which had been closed since June 30. Its closing was reported at the time to have been ordered to mask German preparations for attempted invasion of England..

Reports indicated that the state house of representatives would contain aproximately 90 new members of a total of 150, and the 31-man senate would include 10 new members.

Two Congress Seats

Only two of Texas' 21 national house positions were at stake in the run-off, 19 incumbents having been renominated in July.

Rep. Clyde Garrett of Eastland, who had ousted Thomas L. Blanton four years ago, was himself beaten by District Judge Sam Russell of Stephenville. Complete unofficial returns to the Texas election bureau gave Russell 27,584 votes to 24,495 for Garrett.

Eugene Worley, young state representative from Shamrock, was chosen for the congressional post to be relinquished by Marvin Jones of Amarillo, chairman of the house agriculture committee. Returns from all 28 of the district's counties, 25 complete, gave Worley 30,111 votes against 22,596 for Deskin Wells Wellington newspaper publisher.

Dallas' Chances At Playoff Berth Appear Be Fading

(By The Associated Press.)

Rogers Hornsby's steady Oklahoma City Indians boast a 4 1-2 game advantage over their nearest rival for a Texas league first division berth, with the end of the regular schedule only two weeks away.

Unless the crippled Dallas Rebels take three straight in a series opening Thursday at Dallas, it appears the Redmen will be the fourth participant in the championship play-off.

For weeks, it has been evident that Houston, San Antonio and Beaumont would be three of the play-off teams.

The fifth-place Rebels yesterday were handed their sixth and seventh consecutive losses. Tulsa took the first game of a bargain bill 5 to 1; the second 7 to 3.

The Indians meanwhile downed Fort Worth, 6 to 4.

Houston Buffs clinched first place over the full season by breaking even in a doubleheader with the rampaging Beaumont Exporters. Beaumont scored its tenth straight road victory in the opener 4 to 3, but the Buffs captured the nightcap, 3 to 2.

It is the second straight year that the Buffs have finished ahead over the full route. They were unsuccessful, however, in the 1939 play-off.

Shreveport downed San Antonio, 4 to 2. The setback left San Antonio 17 games back of Houston and a half game ahead of Beaumont.

Streetman Series

STREETMAN, Aug. 26.—(Spl..)—Mexia defeated Streetman, 4-3, in the local tournament Friday night, but later was disqualified for the alleged use of a player not included on the eligible list and Streetman continued in the competition, it was officially announced.

Barq's downed American Well, 9-3, in the other game.

HEALTH, BEAUTY AND POISE

By VERONICA DENGEL

CHEST MUSCLE EXERCISE

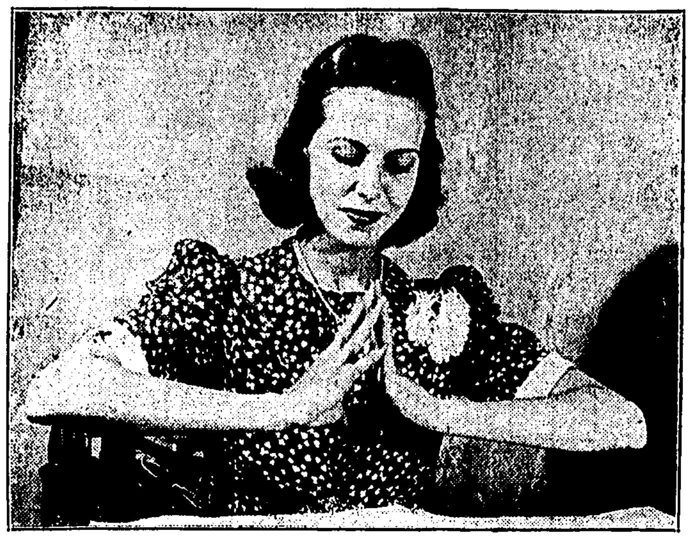
Another one of our chest firming exercises is given today. This, too, helps to tighten and firm the chest muscles which is the important thing for both chest development and chest reducing. Place the fingers together as illustrated in the picture. Be sure that the elbows are extended at about shoulder height. Now, with a steady pressure—not jerks—press the fingers against each other as hard as you can, and then release the pressure rather slowly. You will notice a tensing feeling in the chest muscles: this is what you are after; and if you don't feel it, you are not performing the exercise correctly. Work at this every day, pressing the fingers together 40 or 50 times.

This is an easy exercise to do while at your desk during a free moment, or even as you are working around the house, and going from one room to the other. Exercise seems less tedious—especially the corrective ones such as this—when done at odd moments; and truly, it is amazing how much help you can give yourself by utilizing your free time in between duties, in this way. Try it.



Press the fingers against each other as hard as you can

Solution Friday's Puzzle.

WEEVILS WORKING OVERTIME THESE DAYS AMONG PEAS, BEANS

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 26.—(Spl.)—Weevils are working over time these days.

To help off-set some of their damage to peas and beans which have been or shortly will be harvested on most Texas farms, Cameron Siddall, entomologist for the A. and M. College Extension Service, has some suggestions to make.

First of all, the safest way to keep beans or peas which are to be used as seed is to shell or thresh them and treat them with carbon disulphide, then store them in half-gallon jars, gallon syrup buckets, or 25 pound lard cans. Carbon disulphide can be used in the following proportions; one-fourth teaspoonful per half-gallon jar; one-half teaspoonful for a gallon syrup bucket; five teaspoonfuls for a 25-pound lard can; and one ounce for a 50-gallon drum.

The peas or beans should be placed in a jar, bucket, or can. Then a small saucer or jar top containing the carbon disulphide solution should be placed on top of the peas before the lid is placed on the container. After 36 hours, the lid and the carbon disulphide should be removed and the peas spread out on a table top or on the floor until there is no trace of the fumes. The peas should then be placed back in the container and the lid placed on tight, Mr. Siddall explains.

If the peas are not to be treated, they should be left in the hull., since they are less subject to weevil damage than if they are shelled or threshed.

Where peas or beans are to be used only for eating, they may be placed in an open container, such as a turkey roaster, and heated to 180 degrees F. for 10 minutes, then stored in tight containers.

this year and about 2,500 in the first half of 1941.

Horton also said the army anticipated taking in 1,000 men a month for training as pilots by the end of September.

He said plane production now was running about 10,000 a year and that this rate would be up to 18,000 by January 1, 1941, and 36,000 by December, 1941.

He said the present schedule of production was based on the acquisition of 25,000 completed planes by July 1, 1942. This number, he added, was all that could be used by that time because of the necessity for training additional pilots.

Horton said the war department by the end of this week will have contracted for 75 per cent of the planes for which there are funds available.

To The Voters Of Navarro County:—

I want to sincerely thank you for giving me the Democratic Nomination for Assessor and Collector of Taxes for Navarro County. It was my loyal friends in each precinct of the County who secured the nomination, and not my efforts. Without you I could not have won. I want all to know just how deeply I appreciate your votes and influence and how much it means to me. My gratitude will be shown by efficient and courteous service in the administration of the office.

the senate, which has a total membership of 31. There were 16 openings this year and 15 hold overs.

Of the 10 new members, seven won their seats by defeating incumbents, and three where the present senators were retiring.

Expressed another way, 13 incumbent senators ran for re-election. Two had no opposition. Of the 11 who were opposed four were re-elected and seven were defeated.

Leonard for Speaker.

At this time it appears Homer Leonard of McAllen will be the next speaker of the house. He is the only candidate for the honor. Emmett Morse of Houston is not seeking a second term as speaker, although he will be a member of the house.

Coke Seevenson of Junction, reelected lieutenant governor, by virtue of that office will again preside over the senate.

Governor O'Daniel did not comment on outcome of the legislative elections.

Among senators defeated was Norris Roberts of Pettus, chairman of the important finance committee. He lost to Fred Mautive.

Wilbourne Collie of Eastland, chairman of the rules committee and of the senate general investigating committee, also was defeated.

Effect Causes Speculation.

Meanwhile, the capital speculated with intense interest on the effect of the election of Olin Culberson as a member of the railroad commission to succeed Lon A. Smith, who is retiring.

Culberson won over Pierce Brooks.

Oil policies weer expected to be profoundly affected. The commission regulates the oil industry in Texas.

For the last two years many such policies have been shaped largely by Smith and Sadler with Ernest O. Thompson, third commissioner, forming a minority.

Sadler and Smith "fired" Culberson, experienced head of the gas utilities division of the gas utilities divison of the commssion. Now Culberson is moving into Smith's place on a plane of equality with Sadler.

A general stiffening of policy with regard to regulation of gautility rates also was expected.

Culberson takes office in January.

No Statements.

There was much speculation whether Sadler would be chosen the next chairman of the commission, which position is usually rotated among the members. Sadler is next in line for the post.

Culberson announced he would make no statements concerning commission pclicies or the choice of a chairman until he assumed office.

Answering a question whether, in view of his colonelcy in the National Guard, he might resign from the commission, Thompson commented:

"I will cross that bridge when I come to it."

There has been some talk he might leave the commission if the National Guard was called for a long period of service.

Thompson added he thought his regiment in the National Guard might not be called for several months.

Activities Report Local NYA Center

Our regular house meeting was called to order on Monday night, Augf. 12, by Fayrene Hiler, house manager. Merle Shaw was elected reporter. After the preliminary business meeting, plans were discussed fo the re-decorating of our living quarters; Red Cross First Aid textbooks were distributed to the girls; and house regulations were discussed. We welcome one new girl, Ruth York, Richland, to our group.

We also welcome Kathleen Tucker of Raleigh, Kathleen was recreation counselor at the NYA camp for girls at Mother Neff State Park, McGregor, this summer; she has been reinstated to work with our group.

Among many activities is our Red Cross First Aid course that is being taught by Mrs. Mildred Horn of Corsicana. Some of the points of special interest that we have covered are wounds, tourniquets, artificial respiration, compresses, and bandages. We cut and rolled our own bandages for demonstration use in our course. Each girl hopes to receive her First Aid certificate at the conclusion of the course early in October.

Home improvement has included new living room and dining room draperies made as a work project by members of our group. Other girls planned and made slip covers for our studio couch. Our kitchen storage pantry has been renovated to make it more convenient. New screens for our windows have been made and painted and all the windows in our living quarters have been washed. We have completed several baby garments for the Red Cross; these garments were to be included in layettes for English refugee children.

Mrs. Katherine Trice, district counselor, assisted by Clifton Coker, youth, of Waco, presented three very interesting movies on "Trees to Tribunes," showing the process through which trees are made into paper for the Chicago Tribune; "Death Day," a Mexican fiesta picture; and "Our World in Review," a review of different Olympic sports. These visual education programs are now a regular part of our training; they are held on alternate Thursday afternoons.

Visitors to our project have included Mrs. Doris R. Moore, supervisor of the Paris, Texas, NYA girls' resident center; Gethro Madden, youth from NYA woodwork shop in Mexia, Frankie Butler, Purdon; Mozelle Gilmore, Avalon; R. W. Perry, Blooming Grove; Pauline Nutt, Mabank; Mrs. George Priddy, Mrs. Edd Robertson, Bettye Jo and Virginia Shaw, all of Dawson; Mrs. Julia York and Mrs. Tom Orand of Richland.

Dinner guests during this two weeks period have included: Mrs Emma B. Nance, district director of girls' activities; Bascom Lang, area director; Donald Armstrong, area counselor; Dr. O. C. Bowmer; Miss Glenna Rackley; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Broughton and little daughter, Ann; John Andy Autrey; Vesta Grace Priddy; W. J. Barnes and daughter, Frances, of Alliance Hall, and little Margaret Ruth Yelvington.

Interested visitors are always welcome on our project and our home is open for inspection at all times.

Mrs. Nathan Redding, nee Maurine Fields of Tyler; Alcye Branham of Dawson, and Lucille Britton of Drane, all former NYA girls, were spend-the-night guests.

Mrs. Lila Colp, our resident supervisor, has been away on a tenday vacation and Mrs. Ruth Yelvington, dietitian, has been with us in her absence.

Glynell Reed, chairman, presided at the regular Youth Forum on Monday night, August 19. After the singing of "America," led by Agnes Priddy, Kathleen Tucker introduced the speaker of the evening, A. W. Brisbin, district representative of NYA from Waco. Mr. Brisbin made a very interesting talk on "How to Get a Job and Hold It." There were approximately 75 present, among whom were guests from the Navarro Commercial College, I. O. O. F. Home, Mexia, Groesbeck, and Teague NYA projects. After Mr. Brisbin's discussion, the youths participated in swimming and various recreational activities. This meeting concluded the summer series of our Youth Forum.

Girls of this group have designed, drafted the pattern for, and begun work on a practical, pinafore type, work apron for wear in our center. The aprons will be made up in checked ginghams, solids, and prints, attractively trimmed.

We have made use of our biweekly swimming privilege at the YMCA. We have also been on several group shopping trips.

A group of 14 girls conducted by Mrs. Ruth Yelvington, made a trip through the Corsicana Cotton Mill on Wednesday, Aug. 21. Things of especial interest to us were the carding of the cotton, spinning of the thread, adjusting and sizing of warp, the looms in operation, and the inspection of finished lengths of materials.

On Friday, August 23, we made six hundred sandwiches for the National Guard entertainment held at the Corsicana Fair Grounds.—Merle Shaw, Reporter.

A number of fires sent huge flames licking skyward. Rescue workers searched frantically in the ruins for victims.

Only a few bombs were dropped east of Dover. The action over Dover itself was confined mostly to dogfights high in the sky while anti-aircraft guns pumped shells incessantly at the raiders.

The crews of three German planes shot down off Folkestone were rescued by British motor lifeboats.

At Folkestone the Germans swooped out of the sun and the townspeople saw the bombs leaving their racks as the raiders dived within a few hundred feet of the rooftops.

Three other dive-bombers were reported shot down in fighting over the mainland.

HIGH PRAISE GIVEN OFFICERS AND MEN OF LOCAL GUARD UNITS

JESTER SHARPLY CRITICIZED CONGRESS FOR DELAY CONSCRIPTION BILL

High praise was given officers and enlisted men of Navarro county in the various units of the Texas National Guard for their showing under unfavorable conditions in recent maneuvers and for their willingness to take an active part in the defense of the United States at the "welcome home" ceremonies for the soldiers at the rodeo arena of the Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show Friday afternoon.

In making the main address of the day, Beauford Jester, war veteran and local attorney, sharply criticized members of congress for dallying on the conscription bill and other defense measures.

At 4:15 Friday afternoon members of the guard units left the armory for a parade through the business district. The column was headed by Lieutenant Colonel John J. Garner, commander of the Second Battalion of the 132nd Field Artillery, followed by the colors and guard; next came Regimental Headquarters Battery under Captain Randolph Robinson, and E. Battery of Kerens under the command of Captain Bill Johnson. The parade was led by State Highway Patrolmen Reid and Rogers, aided by City Patrolman M. O. Adams. From the business district the units went to the fair grounds, vehicles were parked, and the officers and guardsmen were played into the arena by the Corsicana high school band under the leadership of Herbert Lewis Hill for the ceremonies of the day.

Halbert Presided

Clyde Halbert, president of the Corsicana Junior Chamber of Commerce and a former guardsman, was master of ceremonies for the occasion and stated the purpose of the meeting was to give public recognition to the three Navarro county units of the 132nd Field Artillery, a part of the crack Thirty-sixth Division.

Tracing the history of the units, Mr. Halbert pointed out that Headquarters Battery was mustered into sevice on Novembe 29, 1922, under the command of Captain Pierce. Battery D was mustered into service in May, 1922, under the late Colonel C. A. Davis, and E Battery at Kerens was recognized at the same time under the command of Meredith Queen.

Lieutenant Colonel Garner was then presented and all other officers of the staff and batteries were called to the front of the massed trops. Mr. Halbert declared as a former guardsman he know that no batteries ever had a better corps of officers, and every man enjoyed working for and with them.

Colonel Garner said the men were glad to be home even for a short time and admitted they were expecting a call shortly for extended training but that it was their hope they would be permitted to train in Texas and not in Louisiana. He praised the work of the men on the maneuvers.

Members of the Second Battalion staff were introduced including Major Hal C. Johnson of Kerens, executive officer; Captain L. C. Molloy, adjutant; First Lieutenant Paul A. Dresser, and Captain R. K. Ransone, U. S. Army Reserve; and Captain B. C. Caldwell, regimental adjutant.

Paid High Tribute

Captain Pierce of Headquarters Battery was presented and echoed the fact the men were glad to be home after the rainy season in Louisiana and said perhaps the only thing that could have been worse would have been ice and even that would not have been so wet. He paid high tribute to the men of the batteries declaring the work under the conditions took everything that was required of a man and every soldier delivered. He advised the youth of the county desiring to serve their country to attempt enlistment with local guard units, pointing out they would serve under local officers and with their friends and neighbors, their service would be restricted and not subject to foreign assignments, and the guard training was a great opportunity for the making of young officers now badly needed by the military machine of the nation. He expressed his personal appreciation for the tribute to the guardsmen, and a similar feeling on the part of the battery.

Other Headquarters Battery officers were presented, including Lieutenants Don Newcomb, and D. G. Hipps of Waxahachie.

Captain Robinson of D. Battery was presented and expressed his appreciation for the tribute. His aides were introduced including First Lieutenant Kirkland, and Second Lieutenant John Bennett.

Captain Bill Johnson of E Battery at Kerens was presented and commented on the change in the history of the units, pointing out that in the beginning the units were acknowledged to have been composed of the "scum" of the communities while today they included the best of the youth and manhood of the county. He declared any parent who had a boy in the Navarro county units could be justly proud of them for the service they had given on the maneuvers for they had really shown they possessed the best qualities of manhood.

His aides were introduced as First Lieutenant Calvin Honeycutt, Second lieutenant James E. Taylor, and Lieutenant Humble.

Jester Is Speaker

The speaker of the day, Mr. Jester, was then presented by the master of ceremonies.

Mr. Jester said it was his privilege and pleasure to express the appreciation of the county for the services rendered by the units, the confidence felt in them, and to encourage them for the task they faced not only for the county but for America as a whole.

The speaker asserted that soldiering was hard at any time, regardless of weather conditions and asserted that it should be remembered the criticism levelled at the maneuvers was based on an idea of perfection, and such work should not be expected of part time soldiers when even the regulars could not do much better.

He also asserted the people of this section of the state appreciated the willingness of the guardsmen to serve in the hour of their country's need, and insisted that the "powers that be" in Washington make every effort to prepare the nation for the events that were sure to come in the future.

Mr. Jester declared that for Congress to be dallying with the conscription bill and other measures for national defense justified questions in the minds of their constituents as to their patriotism and good judgment, and also that he was proud of the fact no member of the Texas representation was guilty of such tactics, but were all working for adequate national defense.

The speaker said soldiering was a real profession and required practice just as any other, and insisted America must ready itself for any eventuality. He declared he had no sympathy for those opposing conscription because all of the modern implements of warfare were not available. He pointed out that Adolph Hitler had trained the youth of Germany for years before equipment was available for them, and that excuses offered against conscription were childish. He praised the national guard for showing the need of being ready and for preparing themselves for greater service, and asserted federal authorities should cut all strings and devote themselves to making the nation ready.

Proud of Soldiers

In closing the speaker said the stadium should have been filled for the occasion but that the people of the county were proud of their soldiers and glad to have them home, and confident that if more than preparedness was needed the men of Navarro county units would give a splendid account of themselves.

Retreat ceremonies were then carried out under the command of Colonel Garner, aided by the band.

Mr. Halbert then expressed the thanks of the batteries to firms who enabled employes to attend the maneuvers, and to many others who assisted in various ways in the welcoming event.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, members of the pep squad of the Corsicana high school under the supervision of Mesdames Jack McKinney, R. N. Elliott and F. S. Stewart served the members of the batteries with sandwiches and soda water.

The members of the batteries were finally dismissed from their summer period of service on their return to the respective armories.

COTTON STAMP PLAN EXPECTED REDUCE SURPLUS AND RESTORE BALANCED US COTTON ECONOMY

By KENNETH KITCH
Associated Press Staff

Bombs over Europe help shatter America's cotton export market, but a cotton stamp plan operating along the general lines of the food stamp plan will contribute to the restoration of a balanced cotton economy for the nation.

The cotton stamp plan is a device enabling welfare clients, WPA employes and others of the country's poor to double their purchases of cotton goods, thereby reducing the American surplus that normally must be marketed abroad.

In less than six months, Memphis, Tenn., Springfield, Mass., Minneapolis and St. Paul have adopted the plan. Los Angeles is working on it.

Texas as yet has not participated. But James S. Allen of Dallas, regional supervisor of the federal surplus marketing administration and organizer of the first unit at Memphis, believes Texas will have several cotton stamp areas within a year.

Closely paralleling the new food stamp plan now operating in eight Texas areas, the cotton plan is based on issuance of bonus stamps to low-income folk.

Get Twice As Much

Principal difference between the two plans is that persons who receive cotton stamps get twice as much bonus. For each actual dollar the food stamp client spends, he receives 50 cents worth of free bonus stamps. For each cotton stamp dollar, the client receives a full dollar in free bonus stamps.

Cotton stamps are green. Cotton bonus stamps are brown. Each color is good at face value for purchase of specified cotton goods in any participating retail store or mail order house.

Any person receiving public assistance can purchase cotton stamps.

Cotton stamps of either color may be used to purchase any product completely manufactured or processed from domestic cotton in the United States or its possessions. Under the food stamp plan only certain government-specified surplus foods are obtainable for stamps.

As under the food plan, the merchant sends his accepted stamps to his bank, which sends them to a government depository and receives in turn a check for the full amount.

Bound By Restrictions

The merchant is bound by restrictions, violation of which brings penalties ranging to 10 years in prison and $10,000 fine.

He must sell only certified eligible goods to certified eligible customers. Stamps are not good for payment of old accounts. They may be used as down payment on goods delivered immediately but not for future payments nor as payments on a lay-away basis.

The merchant cannot give cash for stamps. If he owes change for stamps, he must give credit slips. The same applies to refunds on returned articles.

As under the food stamp plan, cotton stamps are a means of returning business to regular retail trade channels. The merchant sells stamp goods as a part of his regular merchandising. In pushing his sales to stamp customers, the government also expects an additional increase in sales to regular customers.

The government finances stamp redemption by diverting portions of appropriations previously spent in purchasing surplus supplies for direct distribution to relief clients. The ultimate objective of the stamp plan is to increase trade sufficiently to warrant the government's retirement practically all together from surplus purchasing.

Fifteen Cents to Farmer

Whether the cotton plan is striding in this direction is too early to determine fully.

The department of agriculture figures that somewhere around 15 cents of the consumer's stamp dollar gets back to the cotton farmer. Most of the remaining 85 cents employs labor in transportation systems, cotton mills, garment factories, and wholesale and retail outlets.

"Our early statistics," Administrator Allen says, "also indicate increasing sales in stamp areas, better clothed low-income families, and clients and merchants that are pleased."

Texas cities or counties wishing to adopt cotton stamps follow approximately the same procedure required by the food plan: Application, regional approval, national designation with actual operation about 30 days later.

Prior to the first world war, cotton farmers got about three per cent of the national income. Recently, even with benefit payments added, they have obtained about one and a half per cent. Over-production in rural areas in the cotton south is more critical than in any other farming section. More than a million additional persons live there than before the first world war.

They have low incomes largely because cotton prices are low. Cotton prices are low because of a huge surplus.

What helps cotton, helps the cotton south—including Texas.

A year ago, the government began an export cotton subsidy program. It cost more than 40 million dollars. Loan stocks were reduced, exports practically doubled, domestic prices raised and domestic purchasing power thereby boosted. But war in Europe threatens to blight the budding program.

This year the nation faces a stricken export market with a domestic consumption of only 7,500,000 bales. That leaves approximately 4,500,000 bales aside from government surplus stores to be exported, consumed at home, or put back for an increasingly distant rainy day.

May Increase Consumption

The surplus marketing administration expects increasing industrial activity resulting from the rearmament program sufficient to maintain—possibly increase—that 7,500,000 bale domestic consumption. But it is depending largely on an increased mattress program for low-income families, new uses for cotton, and the cotton stamp plan to take over much of the former exports now denied sale.

Here's the plan in brief detail:

1. Present rate of domestic consumption, 7,500,000 bales.
2. Mattress program for low-income families making less than $50 per month, 600,000 bales.
3. Substitution of cotton industrially for all jute and burlap now imported, and for other new uses, 1,000,000 bales.
4. Cotton stamp program, 2,000,000 bales.

Total, 11,100,000 bales.

Since department of agriculture experts figure production can be held approximately to 12,000,000 bales without adding an impracticable burden to unemployment relief, this would leave under normal supervised conditions only 900,000 bales for the foreign market.

Therefore, the cotton stamp plan, doubling the purchasing power of the poor and stimulating sales to other consumers, is a nag on whose nose government officials are betting to regain a balanced economy for the nation.

A hopeful picture for America's cotton export market is painted as the U. S. Department of Agriculture through introduction of a cotton stamp plan which closely parallels the food stamp plan. # LOCAL CHAPTER RED CROSS MOST ACTIVE DURING PAST MONTHS

MRS. R. B. MITCHELL GIVES RESUME OF SOME OF WORK BEING DONE

Mrs. R. B. Mitchell, executive secretary, Navarro county chapter American Red Cross, announced much activity in the various services of the local organization during the past two months.

The third shipment of war relief garments was forwarded to the Red Cross warehouse in Jersey City, N. J., on last Tuesday. This shipment, assembled under the able direction of Mrs. Edna Cross, completed the September quota assigned Navarro county chapter and included over and above the quota the following: 5 men's sweaters, 9 women's sweaters, 10 children's sweaters, 21 children's dresses, 10 complete layettes, 5 beanies, 12 pairs of infants' bootees (hand crocheted) and 4 pairs of donated, store-bought stockings for an eight-year old child.

This brings the number of sweaters knitted by volunteers to date to 113; beanies, 15; black shawls, crocheted, 10; infants' bootees, crocheted, 32 pairs; ladies' dresses made, 25; children's dresses, 71; baby layettes, 40. Each baby layette contained the following: 2 outing flannel dresses, open in back (finished length, 20 inches); 2 outing flannel gowns, open in front, finished length 28 inches; 2 knitted shirts, 2 pairs stockings, 2 flannel bands, 6x18 inches, edges pinked, each rolled separately and fastened with safety pins; 1 outing flannel cap, 1 outing flannel coat or kimona; 2 wrapping blankets, each 1 yard square; 12 cotton Birdseye diapers, 27x27 inches; 1 wash cloth; 2 small pieces of old linen, 5x5 inches; 12 safety pins, 6 large and 6 small.

Women Most Active.

Thus it will be seen that much labor has been given in the knitting, crocheting and dress making by the women of the city. One volunteer, a victim of the Frost tornado, 10 years ago, paralyzed for 19 months following the disaster, volunteered to sew, saying that she felt that she could never repay the Red Cross for treatment and services rendered her at that time. She has made and hard-tacked 60 of the wrapping blankets for the baby layettes, besides working buttonholes, and sewing on various other articles.

Other sewing for the chapter production program has included property bags and hospital bedside bags. Several individuals and organizations have donated material for these bags. Camp Fire Girls an the home evonomics department of the Emhouse public school have co-operated in this project.

Following is an excerpt of a letter to the executive secrtary from Miss Lucille B. Powrie, field director, American Red Cross, Station Hospital, Fort Sam Houston:

"Today we received the package from your chapter, containing 20 property bags.

"The bags you sent us are very nice ones, indeed. They are of such beautiful material and so perfectly made. It will be a joy to have them to give to the patients to hold their toilet articles intact. The nurses as well as the patients are very grateful to be able to have property bags on the wards.

"We do want your volunteer group to know how thoroughly appreciative we are to receive these bags."

Twenty soldiers' property bags and 10 hospital bedside bags, in addition to those referred to in Miss Powrie's letter were sent to Fort Sam Houston on July 25 and have been duly acknowledged.

First Aid Work.

Under the first aid service, Mrs. Mildred Horn, wife of J. C. Horn, educational advisor of the local CCC, is teaching two classes for the local chapter, composed mainly of NYA girls. The first class began on the evening of August 13, meeting from 7:30 to 9:30, Tuesday and Thursday evenings until the standard course is completed.

Attending the class which is under way at present, are: Agnes Lida Priddy, Dovie Wright, Kathleen Tucker, Gelene Gaddy, Marjorie Orand, Glynell Reed, Ruth A. York, Zobell Jones, Macie Lee Perry, Merle Shaw, Etna Britton, Bernice Butler, Dorothy Marie Robertson, "Shorty" Barnes, Mildred Cates, Pearl Ruth Johnson, Fayrene Hiler, Sadie M. Hiler and Mrs. Ruth Evans Yelvington. Total, 19.

Dr. Ed L. Evans of Frost, the chapter's authorized first aid instructor in the west end of the county, submitted his examination report recently and six standard first aid certificates have been issued to those individuals listed as having received passing grades as follows: Misses Chlodine Hulsey, Miriam Hightower, Dicky Heyer, Melba Ellis, Lillian Bogan and, Billy Mitchell, all of Frost.

Mrs. Mitchell also announced that Mrs. G. Marion McAdams, enrolled Red Cross nurse on home defense, address, 1809 Woodlawn, Corsicana, is authorized to conduct classes in home hygiene and care of the sick in Navarro county chapter, 6-18-40 to 6-30-41.

With reference to the claims work with war veterans in which there is never a lull, Mrs. Mitchell stated that she had received a letter under date of Aug. 21, 1940, from Dr. C. L. Magruder, manager of the Veterans' Hospital, Dallas, in which she was advised that the facility received its first patients on Aug. 19, but (quoting) "it is respectfully requested that it must be realized that with new personnel it will be impossible to receive a large number of patients daily until the personnel has become acquainted with their routine work. There have also been received a great number of applications from adjoining facilities on claimants who reside in the area assigned to this hospital, who must be served first in the order in which their applications were received, except in instances of true emergencies. True emergencies will be handled immediately.

"With reference to negro patients, you are advised that this facility will not handle negro claimants except in instances of true emergencies. Other than for negro claimants suffering from conditions requiring emergency treatment, it will be necessary for you to refer P-10s as you have in the past, that is, either to Alexandria or Muskogee, depending upon whether the place of residence of the claimant is nearer to Alexandria or Muskogee."

New Dawson Coach Star Performer At East Texas College

COMMERCE, Aug. 24.—(Spl.)—There are people around Commerce and East Texas State Teachers College who will tell you that if a coach is very important to a football team, that the Dawson Bulldogs, whose last game with the Corsicana Tigers netted the Dawson boys a 0-20 loss, may again be up in the class with the Johnny Pierce's Tigers.

Grounds for this statement, they think, come from the fact that one of ETSTC's grid greats has been hired by the school powers at Dawson to direct the grid destinies of the Bulldogs. He is Millard Massey, a shifty-nifty scatback of the Bobby Wilson variety who knows his football. Schooled under Bob Berry, ETSTC coach who learned his grid tactics under Dana X. Bible at A. and M., Massey is good and has the knack of leadership necessary to produce football teams that win.

Rated as one of the best small school backs in the land in 1939, Massey received Little All-American mention from the Associated Press. His broken-field running and conduct on the field made him an outstanding player in every game he played for the Lions.
